

A 3D architectural rendering of a modern building complex. The scene features several interconnected volumes with light-colored, textured facades. A prominent building on the left has a series of small, square windows. To its right, a taller structure with a flat roof and a balcony featuring horizontal wooden slats is visible. In the foreground, a large, rectangular swimming pool with a blue and white mosaic tile pattern reflects the sky and the surrounding architecture. The ground around the pool is paved with grey stones. The overall atmosphere is bright and clear, suggesting a sunny day.

A 3D architectural rendering of a modern building's exterior. The scene features a long, covered walkway with a white wall and a dark metal railing. The walkway is supported by a series of vertical wooden posts. To the right of the walkway, there is a ramp or staircase area with a dark metal railing. The ramp is landscaped with green grass and several potted plants, including palm trees. The building's facade is white, and the sky is a clear blue. The overall design is clean and modern.
